Red Cross Film Slated Tonight

The Red Cross is engaged in widespread flood and tornado relief operations in the East and South which may require expenditure running to several million dollars, Maxwell Reeves, chairman of the West Coffee County Chapter, was advised March 13 by national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Robert Edson, ARC national disaster director, said major flooding, as yet not at its peak in several Eastern states, may approach a 1957 flood relief job by the organization in that same general area, which cost $4,000,000 for help to 9,500 families in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia. Flood relief also is being given in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

At present, over 200 disaster staff of the national Red Cross are assigned to flood and tornado areas, helping local chapters to provide emergency aid and continue a job of weeks or months, in some sections, helping families recover from the disaster.

In the South, by preliminary count, 1,200 families have property losses resulting from last Tuesday's rash of tornadoes in three states, and current flooding in Tennessee and Alabama. This figure is expected to increase substantially as surveys continue and floods crest.

Twisters which struck in Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee on March 11 took a toll of at least nine dead, 60 injured, nearly 100 homes destroyed, and 200 damaged.

At all tornado sites, or in local Red Cross chapters, applications are being taken for family needs resulting from the disasters.

"This help," Reeves said, "will consist of funds to supplement families' own resources for restoring their homes and furnishing to living condition, also money as needed for paying medical, hospital, and other storm-caused expenses."

"This type of aid will account for perhaps 80 to 90 percent of the total cost of the relief operations which, in some areas, particularly in the flooded eastern towns, will continue for two or three months."

These funds, Reeves pointed out, come from contributions in United Fund and Red Cross annual campaigns.

Reeves states that the West Coffee County fund collection kick-off will be the first week in April. Details as to plans will be announced next week.

Reeves announced that a film will be shown at the Elba National Guard Armory, sponsored by the West Coffee County Red Cross Chapter. This film will be of particular interest in Elba and vicinity since it will be of major interest in reference to Elba's hospitals and the Elba Hospital. The film will be shown free and will take about 15 minutes to show. The film entitled "Prescription for Life" will be shown several times on Thursday night, March 21st, beginning at 7 o'clock. The last show will be about 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

The Elba American Legion Post has offered their assistance in the collection of the Red Cross funds.

Reeves said that he is hoping that this will be the biggest campaign the Red Cross has ever had in West Coffee. A quota of approximately $2,800 has been set.

A plan is being made to hire a part-time paid Red Cross worker and the Grey Lady program organized.

In the South, preliminary counts indicate at least 1,200 families hit by twisters and floods happening recently in Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama. Twisters struck in nine Alabama counties, four in Tennessee and five in Mississippi. Heavy flooding is current particularly at Huntsville and Athens, Alabama, and at Newport, McMinville, Sevierville, and Sweetwater, Tennessee. Shelters are in operation at most major flood points.

In most tornado-stricken sections, in the South, cleanup is well under way, and there has been little need for mass shelter, most victims readily finding temporary haven with relatives and friends. Twenty-eight Red Cross chapters gave emergency aid, and already registration points have been set up at most disaster locations where families may apply for homes reconstruction, refurnishing, medical and other assistance.

Approximately 200 disaster staff members of the national Red Cross are assigned to flood and tornado areas in the East and South, working with local chapters.

Fire Ant Eradication Underway In Alabama, Federal, State To Assist

The 1963 program to control and eradicate imported fire ants in Alabama is now underway. Agriculture and Industries Commissioner A.W. Todd announced today.

The program is a cooperative venture between the Alabama department and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Commissioner Todd said.

W.A. Ruffin, Alabama department director of plant industry, will be in charge of the Alabama program.

Mr. Ruffin has announced two separate bait plans in the war on fire ants.

In counties where there is only limited infestation, the entire cost of the program will be borne by state and federal allocations. "We are asking the cooperating of landowners in this area in providing us with some labor assistance, but there will be no cost to the farmers whatsoever."

Some 15 counties, all of them in North Alabama, will come under this classification. "We hope to completely eliminate fire ants in these counties," Mr. Ruffin said.

In areas of general infestation, state and government funds will pay for one-third of the eradication and control operation, while landowners will be asked to provide two-thirds of the costs.

Mirex bait will be used. "We have found this bait to be completely safe for both humans and animals," Mr. Ruffin pointed out.

Commissioner Todd urges landowners to contact their county agents for information and arrangements for a meeting to discuss the fire ant program.

Veteran, Family May Request Burial In National Cemetery

Any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service, whose last period of service terminated honorably, is eligible for burial in which grave space is available, the Veterans Administration said today.

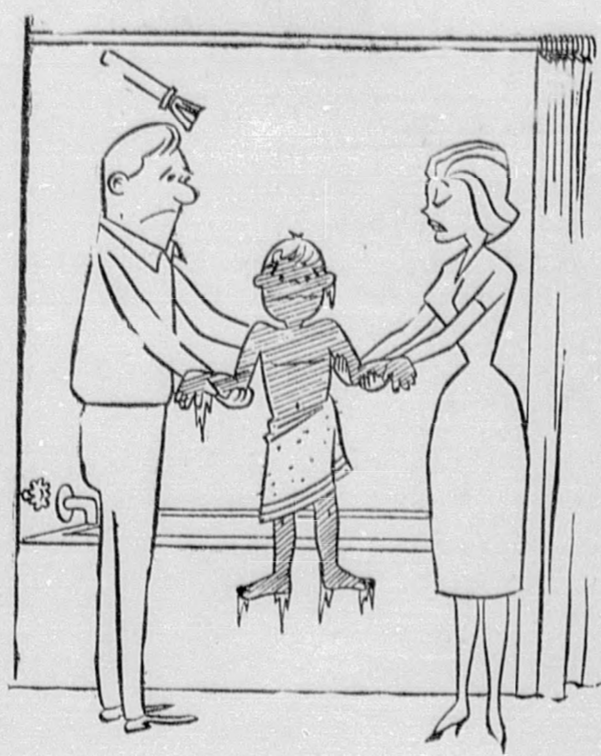

The spouse, widow or widower of an eligible veteran may be buried in the same grave or in an adjoining grave if space is available, John D. Chapman, Contact Agent at the VA Regional Office in Montgomery, pointed out.

A minor child of the veteran may also be buried in the same grave in which either parent has been interred.

Should the spouse or child die before the veteran, the veteran must sign a paper stating his intention to be buried in the national cemetery before the spouse or child.

RAMBLING ROSES AND FLYING BRICKS

BY EARL TUCKER
THOMASVILLE, ALABAMA

Since becoming bald many, many years ago, I reckon a thousand people have asked me if I ever considered buying a toupee. I must admit that I have sort of toyed with the idea on many occasions and one time, about 30 years ago, I went so far as to fill out a coupon in a newspaper advertisement. I never got around to mailing it.

Most bald men have, at one time or another, tried the various hair-growing machines, tonics and other hair restorers to sell to advertise, but not me. I was always pretty sharp about such things. When I read about something that was supposed to grow hair, I very cleverly induced my friends to try it first. While I actually doubted that any good would come to me, I wanted to be certain. The way I handled the situation was to casually mention that a traveling man from Mississippi said he knew a fellow personally who was as bald as a cueball and after trying the remedy for sixty days had so much hair that his close friends called him "Mop Head."

By the way, the fellow who was as bald as a cueball and after trying the remedy for sixty days had so much hair that his close friends called him "Mop Head."

In the second place, I do not like the way they advertise toupees. They usually have two pictures, before and after, and the bald man is frowning and the same man, with the toupee, is smiling and looking real handsome. How come they never let the bald-headed man smile?

My other objection to a toupee is that everything I buy that costs over $20, I buy on the easy-payment plan. I can't think of anything worse than having a collector chasing me all over town trying to repossess my hair.

THE STOMACH
It is called an avoid musculomembranous pouch and is better known as a stomach. The stomach is an unobtrusive, generally uncomplaining, usually overworked organ. It has a difficult job to do and deserves special mention.

The stomach is a sac-like portion of the alimentary canal located just below the esophagus, and the earlier stages of digestion take place here.

Size is entirely dependent on the amount of food in the stomach. Before breakfast, the stomach is contracted and not much larger than a tube. When food enters, the stomach obligingly stretches itself. Moderately distended, it is about 12 inches long and four inches in diameter.

Food becomes thoroughly mixed with the acid gastric juices that flow into the stomach. The flow of gastric juice is controlled by taste and smell or even by thoughts of food. Worry, fear, and excitement retard the gastric juices, thereby hindering proper digestion of food. Certain foods, especially meats, encourage a generous flow of gastric juice. Normally, we are not conscious of internal organic activity. We may feel the heart pumping after exertion, but the stomach works quietly, unobtrusively, until it is abused and then the stomach can really complain.

What Do I Wish?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a stone house of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which is the most vital spiritual support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Pam can't keep a secret. She'll probably tell us what she wished before the cake is half eaten.

Whatever her wish, it will be for a little girl type of thing. But—what of me? What do I wish for my daughter? Success in a career . . . happy marriage . . . children . . . a beautiful home . . . a fair share of worldly goods . . . health . . . happiness?

I suppose I wish all of these things for Pam, in some measure. But if I had to limit myself to a single wish—I would ask for her a deep and abiding faith. How wonderful it is to have an unshaken belief in God's ways and His works, plus the conviction of His love for us.

Some of us may be limited in our ability to give our children material things, but we need never stint on teaching them spiritual values. Start taking your children to church and church school this Sunday.

DISMALS GARDENS

Six miles west of Phil Campbell, on U. S. 43 in Northwest Alabama, there lies an eighty-acre tract of primeval vegetation, one of the oldest undisturbed climax forest areas in the eastern United States, known as Dismals Gardens. Containing 14 natural wonders, Dismals Gardens will make an interesting sight-seeing spot for a weekend trip. This little publicized attraction would prove especially interesting to the children, in one area along the beautiful trails there is a natural arboretum where 27 different trees can be seen within a radius of 200 feet. Included are many enchanting gardens of wild flowers. It seems that nature chose this secreted garden to carry on some of her most mystifying experiments and placed in the protected canyon the greatest variety of herbs, mosses, ferns and wildflowers found anywhere in Alabama.

Water is another extraordinary feature of these same Falls make a moonbow. Visitors may stop to rest along the stream under trees which are centuries old. Children are allowed to wade in the ripples of Dismals Creek, which flows over rounded pebbles of various colors. Children will also thrill to the sight of an Indian maiden which was carved by nature over hundreds of years ago. Another of the natural wonders at Dismals Gardens is the "Witches Cave." Fight Against Communism

The V. F. W. in Alabama and its national organization have adopted a program based on the belief that education is the answer to Communism. Their motto, "Fight Communism With Knowledge," is the basis for their drive to raise the funds to support this outstanding library at Auburn University. They believe that when our Alabama and American youth know the facts they will not accept the alien tenets of Soviet Communism.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars in more than 100 towns in Alabama plans to call on their friends and neighbors to contribute to this great American project.

Governor Wallace in proclaiming "Fight Communism With Knowledge Week" said "the purpose of such collection (of books) will be to encourage professors and students to seek and promulgate the truth that keeps men free."

The Governor also said "the Communist conspiracy has thus far succeeded far too well because the free world has slept too long." He added: "The Communists seek their goal of world domination by subversion and by perversion of the minds of men."

The Governor concluded: "I . . . call upon the citizens of Alabama to support to the fullest extent of their ability the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their efforts to establish the Veterans Memorial Collection at Auburn."

Governor George Wallace has proclaimed the week of April 1-6, 1963, as "Fight Communism With Knowledge Week."

THE ELBA CLIPPER

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

MOST EXCITING NEWS came our way through the courtesy of Mrs. M.A. Owens who called to tell us about the expansion of our city library. Last week a delegation from the Elba Study Club and the Elba Library Board met with the Mayor and City Council and requested that the offices recently vacated by the city government staff be utilized by the city library. The council graciously agreed to the proposal, and so all of us will benefit from an enlarged library.

The plans are not settled yet for exactly what will be done to make the most of this sorely needed space but it is known that some will be cut from the existing library into the new. And we can visualize reading tables and display areas and comfortable chairs. The additional space will allow us to receive more books and magazines from the Cross Trails Regional Library.

And it seems to us that this offers a wonderful opportunity for all of us to re-visit the library and discover again the pleasure of books. Mrs. Glennie Smith is always glad to see us and will graciously spend many minutes to find just the book we want.

HAD a most interesting conversation with Mrs. Mayo Prescott today. She is chairman of the costume committee for the Easter pageant that will be presented at the Methodist Church the Thursday before Easter. We had asked Mrs. Prescott for some of the details as it seems to us that getting such a large cast adequately costumed is a task of gargantuan proportions. There are about forty in the cast and all wear costumes of the Biblical era.

Mrs. Prescott told us that it had been decided that the costumes should be as authentic as possible and that to accomplish this, the committee has done a good bit of research. Each character will wear a basic robe, simply cut with long sleeves and tied with a slender cord. These will be mostly in browns, blues and green shades. Then over this will go a drape of contrasting color, many of gold and wine. On some costumes a brightly colored girdle of red, orange or gold will be worn. Taffetas and silks will be used when possible to add richness to the more subdued outfits of the disciples. And the committee was most grateful to Mr. Oscar Vaughan Sr. for his donation of bolts and bolts of lovely material for this purpose. We shall all enjoy the beauty created by his generosity.

Mrs. Prescott and Miriam Kennedy spent most of A.E.A. sewing and completed ten costumes. In charge of the children's outfits will be Carolyn Martley, Sylvia Brown and Roy Frances Vaughan. Betty Vaughan and Doris Brock will create the soft drapery preferred by the women of Jerusalem while Iva McCreary and Cupidon Crook sew for the disciples. They will be assisted by Dixie Deal and it all sounds exciting to me.

A SURPRISE VISITOR last week added spice to our day. Bill Armstrong of Montgomery came by and we did so enjoy hearing about his family. Mary Elizabeth is a freshman at Sophie Newcomb in New Orleans and having a wonderful time. Whit is now at Sidney Lanier and has decided that Lanier's social whirl is lots of fun.

It seems impossible that these two, whom we remember as 'grammar schoolers' are now practically grown. When we shared the red brick house with the Armstrongs, 'Mary Lemon' was in the fourth grade and such a dear child. She spent many hours in our apartment and when the Armstrongs moved away we felt that they took our child with them. Whit, we will always recall as a boy of six. He, Leslie and Frank Johnson, Sammie Carney and Butch Oggs were tanned by the sun, fair hair yellowed, and dark hair lightened, front teeth missing and knees exposed by short khaki pants, grimy beyond redemption. We remember Mrs. Armstrong's soaking Whit in Tide soap, a procedure we felt sure would leave him raw, but didn't. How cute and happy they were that year. I wonder if Whit even remembers that old straw hat he wore everywhere then.

The flood gates of memory opened and we have sorely missed this grand family. We hope to see them all soon for a real visit.

THE R.A.'S of our Baptist Church had a wonderful experience last week when they played basketball in the tournament in Tuscaloosa. Phil Brunson, Johnny Martin, Steve Dorsey, Bryce Paul, Johnny Sharpless and Mike Russell were the six who represented Elba and we believe they deserve congratulations. Wayne Sharpless, Martha and James Martin took the team up and reported that they all had a grand time. Betty Dorsey, Kim, Gene and David Beaton Dorsey, Marie Benton and grandson, Joe Davis, of Opp and Mildred Brunson were proud spectators at the game.

WE WERE INTERESTED in hearing of Idelle and Jim Whitman's trip to Florida to visit Buddy on his college campus. They were accompanied by Queenie and Colon Whitman and one of the highlights of the trip was their attendance at the circus presented annually by the university. We remember how thrilled we were some six years ago when Ginette Kendrick, Mrs. Fleming and I saw this group perform in Enterprise. It was amazing to watch ordinary college boys and girls present professional circus acts on the high wire and trapeze. Buddy is certainly located in a fine place. We understand he enjoys his teaching at the university.

READ IN THE ADVERTISER in Madras Spenser's column that Katherine Dorsey had enjoyed a stay in Hong Kong. The days are getting shorter now until Katherine returns home. We can imagine that she is anxious to see Pete and Dixie Dorsey.

THURSDAY evening found us riding to Geneva with Ruth and Kasper Anderson to hear Geraldine Conway speak. During the several visits we make to Geneva, we found the people to be exceptionally cordial and genuinely interested in everyone who was there. And many were there. We sat shoulder to shoulder and on chairs placed up and down the aisle to hear Geraldine's message.

After the service, Wilfred and Marie Benson asked us to come by their house for coffee and this proved a delightful ending to a nice evening. We admired their attractive home and the nicely planned garden behind which is surrounded by flowering shrubs. A cuddly, blonde grandson smiled at us sweetly over his grandmother's shoulder and after he had slipped away into the land of Nod we sat around the glass topped table for coffee and conversation. And we know now why Ruth and Kasper loved Geneva; it would be an easy town to like.

THE CLASSIC LOOK is enjoying a revival in children's clothes and we are pleased, as to our way of thinking children are sweetest when dressed as children. Sunday, we noticed many that caused a pleasant glow. Lucia Stephens, daughter of Gayle and Lewey

Stephens, wore a skirt and sweater of federal blue and tied her long golden hair, which was softly curled, with a blue velvet ribbon. Colonel and Martha Easter's daughter, who strikes us as being the kind of little girl every mother would like to have, wore a pale pink coat and combed her dark hair simply; Beverly Rainer wore a beige dress trimmed with blue embroidered braid and topped by a short sleeve, blue velveteen waist. We'll mention others later.

HOME from surgery is Janelle Moore, youngest daughter of Julian and Merle Moore, and we were so pleased to learn that she is better and will probably be in school this week. Janelle is such a pretty girl and wears her courage as a bright, little flag that inspires us all.

ALSO convalescent at home is Jimmy Harper who was wounded in Vietnam. He is home on thirty day leave and we hope he will have a speedy recovery.

OUR NEIGHBORS, Erie and Kermit Crook spent several days in Pensacola last week with daughter, Reta Ann, and son-in-law, Jerry Cogan. With them were Elaine (Crook) Bullard and her two boys, Heath and Stephen. Elaine told us Stephen, who is the apple of his aunt's eye, enjoyed being the center of attention.

ANOTHER family who enjoyed being together was that of Jane Cash. Jane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sims of Bessemer, spent several days here with Jane, Russell, and their cute boys. We wondered if Mr. Sims and Russell got in any fishing as they both enjoy this hobby.
